Oil-Rich Desert Prize Sought by King Hassan II

ALGHERS (AP) — Moroccan troops occupied areas of the Algerian Sahara today in a new challenge to Nationalist Premier Youssef Ben Kheddada's moderate regime. Fears arose that Tunisia also would try to make good its claim to parts of the oil-rich desert.

Already reeling from internal turmoil that threatens civil war, the Algerian leaders were shocked and disillusioned by the French grab move of Morocco's King Hassan II. But the Ben Kheddada regime appeared powerless to move against the Moroccan occupation until it had set its own house in order and the Algerian leadership split was as wide as ever.

Leaders Split

Rebellious Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, the radical leftist who split with Ben Kheddada on the eve of Algerian independence, kept up a steady diatribe of criticism of the Algerian regime from his refuge in Cairo.

In an apparent play for military support, he accused Ben Kheddada of wanting to liquidate the 140,000-man Nationalist army and the popular revolution. Defining his economic policies, he said, "Frankly, I mean socialism."

In Rabat, Mohammed Khider, a Ben Bella supporter who resigned from Ben Kheddada's cabinet last week, accused Ben Kheddada of trying to seize power in Algeria. He said Khider and other Ben Bella supporters have seized possession of the Algerian Nationalist legion in the Moroccan capital.

The Moroccan move was disclosed only three days after Algeria was proclaimed independent from France. Algerian officials said Moroccan infantrymen moved into several desert posts in the area of Tindouf and Colomb Bechar.

Tindouf, a lead mining center, is about 60 miles inside Algerian territory from the Moroccan border. Colomb Bechar, an important French military base, is about 15 miles inside the border. Apparently no Algerian troops were in either area and French troops there made no move to interfere.

In Rabat, Moroccan officials denied any invasion of Algerian territory, claiming that Moroccan troops merely had occupied frontier territory considered to be Moroccan. It was apparent, however, that Morocco did not consider the territory negotiable.

U.S. Will Ease Travel Bars on Red Visitors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elimination of travel restrictions on Soviet visitors to the United States could lead to a further improvement in U.S. Russian relations, officials said today. It all depends on how the Soviet government reacts.

The U.S. action personally approved by President Kennedy, was announced Friday by the State Department.

Beginning immediately, the approximately 2,000 Russians who visit the United States each year will be as free to travel as any other foreign tourists.

In a note handed by Under Secretary of State George Ball to Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin in the State Department, he informed the Soviet government of its action and asked for a reciprocal Russian step to contribute to better mutual understanding and broadening of cooperation between the peoples of the two countries.

If Soviet Premier Khrushchev should react by cutting back on restrictions on the travel of more than 11,000 Americans who now visit the Soviet Union each year, the way would probably be opened for other measures on improving relations.

One possibility could be renewal of active consideration of an agreement for direct air service between Moscow and New York.

McNamara Outlines U.S. Commitments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has let the Russians know the United States has not locked itself into a commitment to spare Russian cities from destruction in the event of a nuclear war.

Informed sources said today this was the import of words McNamara used Friday in answering questions about his strategy, which aims at confining any nuclear weapons to military targets as much as possible.

In a speech three weeks ago at Ann Arbor, Mich., McNamara said the United States has concluded that so far as is feasible, principal military objectives in event of nuclear war "should be destruction of the enemy's military forces, not of his civilian population."

Strong Incentive

He said then that "we are giving a possible opponent the strongest imaginable incentive to refrain from striking our own cities."

At a news conference Friday, McNamara stressed the flexibility of U.S. nuclear strategy and said "we have a force so large that we can be certain that it can absorb a full first strike by any potential enemy and survive with sufficient power to destroy the military capabilities of that potential enemy."

"This permits us should we choose to do so to apply a strategy that would direct the surviving force against the military targets of that potential enemy."

McNamara added "I emphasize he words 'permit us' however rather than stating that it would be necessarily planned to be used in that fashion."

Spare-the-Cities

This sentence raised questions as to whether McNamara was broadening the terms of his spare-the-cities strategy.

Sources familiar with McNamara's thinking said the defense secretary was telling the Russians that the United States is not ruling out a possible strike at Russian cities—if such an attack is to the advantage of the United States—even if the Russians avoid hitting U.S. cities in a surprise nuclear assault.

The sources suggested the United States is leaving itself free to strike at Soviet cities if, for example, the Russians should start their massive ground forces in motion to overrun Free Europe.

In essence, it appeared that McNamara was seeking to keep the Russians guessing — and to bring home again that this nation's nuclear might is great enough to deal the Russians a punishing blow if they launch a surprise attack against this country or its allies.

Milwaukee Boy Drowns in Wolf River

Sturgeon Bay Man Dies While Working On Fishing Boat

A Milwaukee boy and a Sturgeon Bay man were drowned Friday in separate accidents.

John Moesch, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moesch, Milwaukee, visiting his aunt and uncle in Shawano, was drowned at 3:30 p.m. while swimming in the Wolf River.

Moesch was diving off a boat with his cousins, Alfred and Albert Popp, Shawano, between the railroad bridge and the paper mill dam. The three purposely tipped the boat and intended to swim to shore, the Popp boys said.

The Popp boys said they did not report Moesch's disappearance until about 5:45 p.m. because they believed he was hiding from them.

With the help of the Clintonville Rescue Department and skin divers, the boy's body was recovered in about 20 feet of water at 7:15 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Moesch intend to take the body back to Milwaukee for burial.

Nicholas Topopson, 46, a commercial fisherman and boat repairman, drowned at Sturgeon Bay while apparently working on a boat at a pier.

He was last seen at 11 a.m. Friday. His wife became concerned when he did not return home for lunch, and she went to the pier at about 3 p.m. She found a tool chest open in Topopson's truck.

Coast Guardsmen and skin divers recovered his body at 6 p.m.

2 Above-Ground Nuclear Blasts In Nevada Set

CAMP MERCURY, Nev. (AP) — Military scientists scheduled two above-ground nuclear blasts today, the first atmospheric shots here since 1958—amid unconfirmed reports that troops are en route for a battlefield test early next week.

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Pentagon refused to say anything about the reported movement of troops, but dozens of tanks were observed on flat cars rolling through nearby Las Vegas Friday.

The shots planned for today were described as low yield devices, to be detonated only a few feet from the ground. Low yield indicates an explosive power of 20 kilotons—equal to 20,000 tons of TNT—or less.

Arthur Daniel Stone, left and Louis N. Dumas, both of Eufala, Okla., appear Friday as witnesses before the Senate Investigations Sub-committee. The two men, former Agriculture Department employees, admitted taking money from Billie Sol Estes to help shift cotton allotments from Oklahoma to Texas (AP Wirephoto).

Two Federal Officials Admit Taking Money From Estes

Dramatic Confessions Spur Wider Investigations on Several Fronts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dramatic man ever again to be restored to confessions of two federal farm the agency's payroll.

Although county officials drew their salaries—estimated at $6,000 to $8,000 a year—from the investigations today on several fronts.

On the verge of tears, Louis N. Dumas, 52, and Arthur Daniel Stone, 55, top officials of the McIntosh County, Okla., Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), admitted Friday that they had received $14,000 from an agent of the Billie Sol Estes enterprises last summer.

They said they had had about it under oath and had reported none of the money on their income tax returns.

Amended Tax Returns

Both men said they are amending their tax returns belatedly and both tried to resign. But Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman rejected the resignations and suspended them instead—the start of a move to slam down Estes, at least pointing either way.

Stirs Activity

Dumas and Stone's testimony was reported on Capitol Hill to have stirred more investigating activity on 2 similar lines by the Agriculture Department's investigating staff, the Justice Department and congressional probes themselves.

The subcommittee is continuing the money probe, possibly deals by Estes in allegedly illegal transactions under farm aid programs.

It was not indicated immediately if any criminal action would be brought against Dumas and Stone.

The confessions of the veteran officials, ending careers that began in the 1930s, came as the Senate Investigations subcommittee rounded out a two-week hearing aimed at finding any evidence of the business connections with Estes, big money man, who has been accused of manipulating cotton allotments under farm aid programs.

Bunche Describes Room Refusal In Atlanta Hotel

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, an American Negro who won the Nobel Peace Prize, described the refusal of a hotel to reserve a room for him as an effort to his race in a speech shortly after he received the key to the city.

"I do not miss the hotel," said Bunche, who is under-secretary for special political affairs of the United Nations. "But I resent the rejection as an affront to my group just as I experience deep insult whenever I see the hateful scars, colored and white."

"I want to anore the right to find me unacceptable as a person, as an individual, but never to under my group and slur my race as the reason for rejecting me," he told the annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Friday night.

Bunche, 47, who won the Hotel Drexler key for a reservation a month ago and was advised that a reservation was not being accepted for July 7, with a room for him.

Claim Against Gold Reserves Massive

BY SYLVIA PORTER
 If you're more than a hit-and-run reader of one of the top economic - financial news stories of our era, you are uncomfortably aware that for many years our country has been running a big deficit in our balance of payments - meaning we're spending much more money abroad than we're earning abroad and as a result, foreign creditors have built massive claims against our shrinking gold reserve.

You're probably also aware of at least two statistics—that last year our balance of payments deficit came to almost $2.5 billion despite the fact that our exports of goods topped our imports of goods by more than $5 billion. But unless you're more than ordinarily informed, you do not know where all the extra spending went. Here, therefore, is a simple breakdown of the 1961 payments deficit, designed to show you how much we spent for what and where the "leaks" are.

Last year, we sold more than $19.9 billion of goods to foreign buyers, bought back over $14.5 billion. That gave us a fat merchandise export surplus of almost $5.4 billion—a nice plus for us. Last year, U.S. residents received as income on foreign investments over $3.6 billion, while foreigners received in income on investments here only $971 million. That gave us another fat plus in our payments accounts of almost $2.8 billion.

Darkens Dramatically
 U.S. residents spent for such services abroad as tourism, transportation and insurance over $4.7 billion, while foreigners spent for similar services here almost $4.4 billion. This resulted in a minor minus in our international accounts of close to $400 million.

From here on, the picture darkens dramatically.

We sent abroad for military expenditures over $2.9 billion, while our military receipts here were an insignificant $406 million. This put a hefty nick in our payments balance of more than $2.5 billion. U.S. net private investments abroad - ranging from extension of credits to other areas to purchase of foreign physical properties - came to more than $3.9 billion, while net foreign private investments in the U.S. came to $577 million. The two categories are not precisely comparable, but they show a minus for us of close to $3.4 billion.

Then there was the huge sum - $2.1 billion net - the U.S. Government transferred to foreign countries for economic aid and "defense support" aid. For this we got nothing in direct return.

There was the $954 million our government invested abroad, not in outright gifts but in loans—direct loans to the governments themselves, loans via the Export-Import Bank, subscriptions to the Inter-American Development Bank, similar transactions. All repayments on these loans were subtracted, so this is a net minus of $954 million.

Private Sources
 There was the $443 million private U.S. sources sent to foreigners - for instance, money orders sent by an American to a member of his family living abroad or gifts. This is a net minus too.

And there was the so-called transfers of cotton acreage allotments and omissions" category amounts from other states to his coming to an impressive minus total of $616 million. Here would go outflows of "hot money" that were unrecorded, untraced sales of U.S. securities by foreigners. It's a slippery category, admittedly loaded with inaccuracies, but it was all minus and it came to a hefty total.

Add up the few credits and they came to almost $28.9 billion in 1961. Add up the far more numerous debits and they came to over $31.3 billion. The deficit resulting was nearly $2.5 billion.

When you glance at this breakdown, you see where the "leaks" are and what can be done to plug them.

At this late date, certainly other nations in the free world can take over a much bigger share of the $5 billion burden we're carrying for military defenses and economic aid.

Surely, we can hike our earnings from tourist spending within the United States by a major amount. We ought to be able to swell our income from exports of goods far beyond where it is.

We're in the red. We have a towering problem of balancing our accounts, maintaining confidence in our currency so creditors don't run from it into gold and, by so doing, topple our dollar. We know where the leaks are - and we must have the courage and brains to plug them.

Rich Setting For Burial Of Faulkner

Faulkner, but a printer's error inserted the "u" in his first published work and he retained the different spelling the rest of his life.

Moral Confession
 Yoknapatawpha County of the 20th Century depicts a period that Faulkner regards as one of moral confusion and social decay. Violent images in his novels of the contemporary Southern life convey a sense of despair.

Faulkner will be buried today in Oxford in a cemetery described in the author's own words in "Sartoris":

"... Marble shapes bearing names and dates in stark and peaceful simplicity. ... Surrounded by symbolic urns and doves. ... and the black cedars from amid which doves crooned. ...

Faulkner's monument is his work, which he described in his Nobel acceptance speech as "in the agony and sweat of the human spirit."

He said: "I believe that man will not merely endure; he will prevail. He is immortal, ... because he has a soul, a spirit capable of compassion and sacrifice and endurance."

Federal Aides Admit Taking Cash From Estes

Just what Dumas and Stone did in return for the money they said were unrecorded, untraced sales of U.S. securities by foreigners remained obscure.

Ex-Estes Aide
 Parnell E. Biggerstaff, a former agent for Estes, testified he paid them for providing valuable information to help him in the allotment deals for Estes. Dumas and Stone said they gave him no information they wouldn't have given to anyone else. Biggerstaff, on the one hand, and the two officials on the other, disagreed as to who had made the first overture for the payments.

Dumas read a prepared statement detailing his confession. Stone was so shaken that subcommittee chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., stepped in and read his statement for him. The two men were in shirt-sleeves and Stone wore no tie.

McClellan told the witnesses he felt sorry for them, and hoped the decision to "make a clean breast" would count in their favor.

British Mothers to Follow Recruits into Army Camp

By HAL R. COOPER
 LONDON (AP)—Three British Army recruits are going into the army next week—with their mothers.

The mothers will remain at the army camp only one week. Their sons, all volunteers, will stay considerably longer.

The mothers will go on special invitations from the British army. "We aim to show the mothers exactly what goes on in the early days of a recruit's training," explained Maj. Edward Smeeden, a Royal Engineers adjutant.

The mothers and sons are Mrs. Olywn Billeet and her Eric, 19, Mrs. Grace Collingworth and Barry, 19, Mrs. Joyce Bowler and Neil, 18.

Mother Surprised
 "When Eric told me he was joining the army, I told him he must be out of his mind," Mrs. Billeet said.

Getting into something with all that getting up early and discipline. Then they invited me to come and see for myself."

Mrs. Collingworth, who said her week with the army will be her first week away from housework for 25 years, told a reporter: "I want to see their kitchens."

Change for Better
 Lt. Col. V. H. S. Hannay, commanding officer of the engineers regiment, explained the invitations were sent out to show how the army has changed - for the better.

The mothers will be billeted with married army families at the engineers camp near Cove. Mrs. Billeet had the next to last word: "They promised not to get us up at 6 in the morning."

Philippines - U. S. Friendship Day Gives History New Interpretation

BY ALBERT RAVENHOLT
 Chicago Daily News Service

MANILA — Philippine-American Friendship Day, a new national holiday that coincides with the U.S. Fourth of July, was celebrated here in a way that gives a healthier emphasis to U.S. relations with the republic we helped launch in the Pacific tropics 36 years ago.

For one of the unexpected dividends of the Filipinos moving their Independence Day to June 12 from July 4 is a new interpretation of history.

Now that Filipinos officially date their independence from the revolt against Spain in 1898, the years that they lived under the Stars and Stripes are viewed as a joint venture in "nation building."

While some Filipinos and Americans remain nostalgic for the former shared national independence celebrations, the new attitudes encouraged by this recasting of history actually give a more accurate emphasis to past events.

The most significant feature of Wednesday's ceremonies here was the honoring of Francis Burton Harrison, U.S. governor-general of these islands throughout the Jones act. This gave the administration of President the Philippines an elective senate as well as a house of representatives, placing the appropriation of funds and taxation in the hands of the Filipinos. This new power was his grave near those of the Philippine presidents in Manila's also offered substantial career North Cemetery, that was devoted opportunities to a generation of Filipino leaders.

In practice these steps led to some miscarriage of Wilsonian liberation. For the American-designed public school system had died in the United States in 1907 not yet trained many ordinary Filipino citizens to qualify for the new career opportunities.

Replacements for Americans in the Philippines was a hotly civil service and political leaders contested political issue among the new congress were drawn Americans when Mr. Wilson was largely from families of the land-owners. His predecessor, owning gentry, who had been so elected in 1912. His first civilian ally dominant during the Span-governor of the islands, appointed ish period.

Despite the deterioration in the quality of administration, which had been exemplary during the earlier Republican era, these moves by the Democrats were popular with Filipino nationalists. The new reading of their history, however, was away among Filipinos offers this period and the subsequent creation of a self-govern- ing Commonwealth in 1935 as evidence of their political partnership with Americans.

The stability of government and Democratic freedom in the Philippines, as contrasted with many other nations, is credited largely to this cooperative political enterprise.

Venture in Nation Building

Philippines - U. S. Friendship Day Gives History New Interpretation

BY ALBERT RAVENHOLT
 Chicago Daily News Service

MANILA — Philippine-American Friendship Day, a new national holiday that coincides with the U.S. Fourth of July, was celebrated here in a way that gives a healthier emphasis to U.S. relations with the republic we helped launch in the Pacific tropics 36 years ago.

For one of the unexpected dividends of the Filipinos moving their Independence Day to June 12 from July 4 is a new interpretation of history.

Now that Filipinos officially date their independence from the revolt against Spain in 1898, the years that they lived under the Stars and Stripes are viewed as a joint venture in "nation building."

While some Filipinos and Americans remain nostalgic for the former shared national independence celebrations, the new attitudes encouraged by this recasting of history actually give a more accurate emphasis to past events.

The most significant feature of Wednesday's ceremonies here was the honoring of Francis Burton Harrison, U.S. governor-general of these islands throughout the Jones act. This gave the administration of President the Philippines an elective senate as well as a house of representatives, placing the appropriation of funds and taxation in the hands of the Filipinos. This new power was his grave near those of the Philippine presidents in Manila's also offered substantial career North Cemetery, that was devoted opportunities to a generation of Filipino leaders.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL and Film Commission which dis- non-sectarian, reflecting funda- mentalists about God from the whole Judeo-Christian perspective. The series is for children of 6 to 10, primarily those who don't get religious training.

Additional sequences of the stories now are being filmed in Hollywood with 13 new chapters to be brought by fall bringing the total through experiences that offer to 39 episodes of 15 minutes each. Each makes some point about God such as His justice, His omnipotence, His love for human beings, His mercy. But the concepts are conveyed through lively events in a contemporary setting easily grasped by a child.

"At long last someone has got ten on the ball and is explaining God to children on a level they can understand," wrote a Huntsville Ala. mother.

The series was developed by the United Lutheran Church of America (merged last week into the Lutheran Church in America). A theological committee oversees the content. # Canadians Not Anti-U. S. at Ballot Boxes

Politicians Fail To Stir Up Support On Nationalism

By FRANK FLAHERTY Chicago Daily News Service

OTTAWA Ontario — One of the lessons politicians may draw from the recent Canadian election could be that anti-Americanism doesn't appeal to Canadian voters.

For the last five years Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and his government have lost no opportunity to pose as rugged Canadian nationalists ever-ready to resist American influence in Canadian affairs.

Actually they have done little to give practical expression to anti-American sentiments.

It is doubtful if they cherish any but they talked as if the Canadian people expected them to be on perpetual guard against Canada's big neighbor, particularly its big corporations and big labor unions. At the election the voters defeated more Diefenbaker candidates than they elected, cut his Progressive Conservative parliamentary strength from 208 at the previous election to 116.

The losses were most severe in the two most populous provinces, Ontario and Quebec, which have specially close business, social and cultural links with the big and populous trans-border states of New York Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan.

Rule on Oil, Minerals

A favorite talking point of Diefenbaker ministers and supporters has been American dominance of Canadian business.

They didn't do much about it except to lay down a rule that no company could share in mineral or oil leases given by the federal government unless it was incorporated in Canada and offered its shares to Canadian investors. The only oil and mineral lands under federal control are in the Polycarp, a Bishop of Smyrna who studied as a child with the Apostle, John, reached the age of 86 with an unblemished reputation for constancy in his faith.

Then the Roman government, which made life perilous for early Christians, finally arrested him. Taken to the arena he was urged by the proconsul, in view of his age, to save himself by denying that he was a Christian. Polycarp refused and the crowd demanded that he be burned alive. He was bound to the stake before the proconsul made one last effort, saying "Take the oath, and I will let you go. Revile Christ."

Polycarp answered, "For 86 years I have been His servant and He has done me no wrong, and how can I blaspheme my King who saved me?"

As flames leaped, Polycarp prayed, "Oh Lord God, I give Thee thanks that Thou hast granted me worthy of this day and hour."

far north. The policy didn't affect massive American investment in oil and mineral properties under provincial government control.

They also had a few proposals, possibly inspired by anti-American bids. One would have required corporations and labor unions to report on their relationships to parent companies and union headquarters outside Canada.

Early in the life of the Diefenbaker government there were suggestions that Canada was too dependent on trade with the United States and that some trade should be diverted from the United States to Commonwealth countries.

Outpatients Given Efficient Service In Spite of Strike

No Long Delays at Centers For Emergency Medical Care

BY M. W. NEWMAN
Chicago Daily News Service

REGINA, Saskatchewan — The doctors are on strike here but patients who need treatment still get it faster than in many U.S. hospitals or in many a swank U.S. doctor's office.

Some Regina patients may even be getting better care than they did before the doctors stashed their stethoscopes and put their billing machines into moribundals.

This is one of the bizarre aspects of the great Saskatchewan doctors' strike against a new so-called medicine law.

It is a strike with seriocomic as well as truly frightening and heart-breaking overtones.

In good-sized cities like this western Canadian provincial capital emergency outpatient service in hospitals still is readily available, a reporter found.

Smaller Towns Worried

But in the windswept prairie villages, where doctors and hospitals never were very numerous, it's another story.

Fear and anxiety are on the increase in the country towns. Both government and organized medicine deny it, but it's the case, anyway.

"It is terrible, what's going on," people told this reporter again and again.

In the small city of Swift Current (pop., 12,000), threats were reported against striking doctors. Many citizens support the doctors, however.

There have been agonizing dashes to get stricken patients to "emergency" centers, still operating, and three deaths under these circumstances. Pregnant women and older persons with serious ailments are feeling the strain of the five-day-old strike.

Resentment Grows

Said Jack Kinzel, secretary of the Provincial government's Medical Care Commission:

"It is the anxiety that is having the worst effect on people."

Here in Regina, a pleasant city of 110,000 persons, there is little panic, but plenty of resentment. Many residents got their doctoring done before the long-threatened shutdown took effect. Now they're clutching their aspirin bottles and hoping for the best.

No Prolonged Delay

A pretty blond nurse took my name and address — nothing more — and I joined a dozen people in the waiting room. The time was late afternoon.

Two waiting men were in wheelchairs. Worried-looking young mothers cuddled babies, one of whom coughed repeatedly. A spare, white-haired man of 82 hobbled in and growled:

"Well, the doctors are on strike. Now maybe the patients ought to go on strike against the doctors."

But it wasn't too long before one patient after another was summoned for examination. A swarthy young physician, possibly a Hindu, appeared to be doing all the work.

In about a half hour, my turn came.

"I think I'm all right now," I told a nurse. "I don't need an examination."

Nothing Wrong

The doctor came up, examined me for a few minutes and could find nothing wrong.

There was no fee. For the duration, Saskatchewan's doctors are providing emergency service gratis. Socialized medicine can't beat that.

What qualifies as an "emergency" illness in Regina? Pretty nearly all complaints except athlete's foot, as far as I could tell.

"For athlete's foot you have to go to Manitoba (a neighboring province) for treatment," cracked a nurse.

Plan Compulsory

"Things are very quiet," asserted Deputy Premier J. H. Brockelbank.

Saskatchewan's 900 physicians, organized in a College of Physicians and Surgeons, officially are protesting against the Provincial government's compulsory, prepaid medical care plan. The program would take care of most medical bills.

The Saskatchewan government, headed by Premier Woodrow Lloyd, is left-leaning and moderately Socialist.

The uproar over the 21,000,000-a-year plan boils down to a question of fees and government controls.

Lloyd's government insists it has the right to process and control payments to doctors, inasmuch as tax money is financing the program. The doctors charge that this is dictatorial, and puts them under the government's thumb. They want a subsidized private medical care program.

Some of the striking doctors have left Saskatchewan, presumably never to return.

34 Emergency Centers

About 230 of them are providing the emergency service in 34 strategically located hospitals.

Some are homelegging service, or openly "strike-breaking."

"My doctor told me to come back and see him in two weeks even if he doesn't answer the phone," an elderly woman told this reporter.

A physician in rural AuAppelle defied other doctors and continued to give service. His 16-bed hospital is jammed while nearby hospitals are nearly empty. In addition, the government says, about 30 doctors are treating patients under the new plan.

No Crisis Observed

The government is hastily bringing in substitutes from England and elsewhere. Even two U.S. physicians have reported for duty.

How long can the strike go on before a real crisis is reached?

The next 30 days will tell the story, said Kinzel, the Medical Care Commission official. "I don't think there's been any great hardship yet."

Dr. Norman Smith, an out-poker Regina doctor, is suspected.

We're not going to give in. We want the government to stop the medical care act.

Strike people outside the province think there are emergency needs, but they don't realize the depth of feeling there is against this government.

"We are not abandoning our patients, and many of them are telephoning to tell us to keep up the fight."

"It isn't easy for us to refuse them treatment."

Neither side shows any signs of yielding in this bitter battle. And now Saskatchewan's dentists are threatening to go out, too.

Faster Work

West might have defeated the contract if he had been faster at his work. West must refuse the first heart trick without breaking the rhythm of the play. As we have seen, it was a mistake to play a low heart too slowly; it might have been equally as suspicious to play low with unusual haste.

If West makes his play casually enough, South may repeat the heart finesse. Then West takes the king of hearts and leads a third trump. Since this removes trumps from the dummy, West eventually gets a club trick to defeat the contract.

General Rule Best

In some defensive situations you can't afford to think. You must follow some general principle and hope for the best.

South ruffed the second spade, led a diamond to dummy's ace and led the ten of hearts for a finesse. West thought things over and decided to refuse the trick.

It was a good play, but West's thoughtfulness gave him away. South knew better than to repeat the finesse.

Instead, declarer cashed the ace of hearts and started on the clubs. There was still a trump in dum-

Your Problems

Nice Looking Stranger Can Bring Teen-Ager to Bad End

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last Friday evening there was a movie I wanted to see so I went by myself. I'm a girl, 16½. As I walked into the theater a clean-cut, manly fellow would guess his age to be about 25, smiled at me. I kept right on walking.

A few minutes later he was sitting next to me. He offered me some popcorn, started a conversation and we exchanged a few remarks.

When the movie was over he asked me if I'd like a soda and I said yes. His car was parked in a lot nearby and we drove to a little cafe. It was all very respectable. He didn't try to get fresh or anything. When he took me home I gave him my phone number.

My mother was waiting on the porch and saw me get out of the car. She asked me who the man was and I told her how we met. She almost took my head off.

I think a girl 16 is old enough to pick her own friends, don't you? Please help me. I'm in deep trouble at home.—Rose

Dear Friend: A Rose by any other name is still a pick-up when she gets into a car with a stranger. He may have looked "clean-cut," but many a decent-looking guy has been known to hit a girl over the head with a beer bottle — or worse yet.

I am opposed to girls taking up with strangers any time and any place. You say he appeared to be about 25. It just may be that he was 35—with a wife and six kids.

You're home free on this one, Tools. Consider yourself lucky and promise never again.

a hamed of them. The boys came to the table with dirty money, uncounted bills, and they did far too much talking.

I haven't heard from them since that day. Do you think perhaps he got a bad impression of me?

Dear Ann: What do you think the reason the fellow has not called, then he's for the birds. Your mother should have taught her sons better manners for their sake, not to impress company. In any event, the behavior of your brothers should not have made one particle of difference to the young man.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a widow 54 years old. My husband died about seven months ago. He was a difficult man to live with but I kept my troubles to myself. More than once I told myself and myself that the boys and girls were on my lip were from household accidents.

Control of 'Afro-Asian' Ocean Vital to Free World Defense

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NORFOLK — The trouble spots of the world will continue to grow with awesome consistency and at an ever-increasing rate. We can see this in the areas of most rapid development. A look at the map of the world shows that the world's population is growing at a rate which will double the world's population in 40 years. This is a fact which will have a profound effect on the Afro-Asian area.

This was the theme of an address by Dr. Arthur J. Levin, a member of the American Association of University Professors, at the annual meeting of the American Association of University Professors, held in the city of Norfolk, Va., on July 6.

Dr. Levin, who is a professor of political science at the University of Virginia, said that the Afro-Asian area is the most important area of the world for the free world. He said that the Afro-Asian area is the most important area of the world for the free world.

To add fuel to these scenes of unrest, there are little-realized strategic aspects about Cuba. It sits athwart the entrance to the Gulf of Mexico, it is within reach of important trade routes between North and South America; and if it listens to the importuning of the Communists and falls into the hands of Russia's far-reaching military forces, it can control a vital artery of commerce, the Panama Canal.

Already, said the admiral, the four besties of world peace — the United States, Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union — are engaged in a struggle for the control of the Panama Canal. The Soviet Union, he said, is the most powerful of the four. The United States, he said, is the second most powerful. France, he said, is the third most powerful. Great Britain, he said, is the fourth most powerful.

Roger Blough Explains How Profits Are Used

BY VICTOR RIESEL

Last April the President of the U. S. had considerable to say, on and off the record, to the Chairman of the Board of U. S. Steel. Then came the reconciliation. Now after a series of private talks President Kennedy is counting heavily on the success of an assignment he asked Roger Blough to fulfill. Mr. Blough heads a small Presidential advisory committee attempting to stop the flow of vital gold reserves out of the U. S.

The other day I asked Mr. Blough to discuss in this column the role of business, and whether he believes it is in the dockhouse. Here is his frank reply:

BY ROGER M. BLOUGH
Chairman, Board of Directors, U.S. Steel Corp.

NEW YORK—What this country needs — more than it ever needed — that good live steel which the late Thomas Riley Marshall called a national necessity when he was Vice President under Woodrow Wilson — is an understanding of who profits from the profits of America. That is why I am here today.

But, you say, the profits of the U. S. are not as high as they were in the 1920s. That is true. But the profits of the U. S. are not as high as they were in the 1920s. That is true. But the profits of the U. S. are not as high as they were in the 1920s. That is true.

the Western Pacific, the Mediterranean and in the Caribbean. They are alert and prepared for any emergency.

It was no accident, I said, that Mr. McCain said that the Seventh Fleet was off of Formosa during the last time that the Sixth Fleet was off the shores of Lebanon. It was no accident that the Seventh Fleet was off of Formosa during the last time that the Sixth Fleet was off the shores of Lebanon.

Ripe for Attention

Next time, I said, the Seventh Fleet will be off of Formosa during the last time that the Sixth Fleet was off the shores of Lebanon. It was no accident that the Seventh Fleet was off of Formosa during the last time that the Sixth Fleet was off the shores of Lebanon.

He pointed out that nuclear power, contained in both conventional and Polaris submarines, can deliver awesome strikes to places which in only recent history have been inaccessible to man. Under present rules of international law, he said, we can take our striking forces and place them 6,000 yards off a potential trouble spot for almost an indefinite period of time without having committed a hostile act.

Can the expanding Soviet Union be halted?

Adm. McCain thought so.

"For the past 15 years, the Communists have been in the process of expanding east and west, and they have absorbed satellite countries which once were our friends. The absorption, he said, was done by the simple process of marching through.

However, the free world has drawn lines beyond which any Communist aggression means a high probability of war.

Blocked in Europe

To the west, the Communists are blocked by our fixed base structure in Europe. NATO forces and deployment of the Sixth Fleet.

The Communists are blocked on the east by U.S. fixed bases across the Eurasian continent, and by the present Seventh Fleet and possible deployment there of the First Fleet and other forces from the U.S. west coast.

Red expansion cannot go north because it will immediately encounter climatic and geographic conditions around the polar ice cap.

With only a southern direction to move in, the Russians have leap-frogged far beyond their borders into, for example, Africa, to take advantage of the turmoil now existing there. They have also planted a foot in our own hemisphere, in Cuba. Nevertheless, any new Communist drive to the south or south-east can be outflanked from the seas and would be forced into peninsula warfare without control of the seas.

Now with the Russian militants looking intently at Europe, said Adm. McCain, a peninsula, surrounded by water on three sides, Red forces seeking control there would be made, and his flanks would be exposed to strong attack from the seas.

New Area Overlooked

But the new strategic area beyond the Afro-Asian ocean is overlooked because of the geographical concentration of the free world's forces. It is in this line of thought that Mr. Blough said that the U. S. must have a strong presence in the Afro-Asian area.

Joseph E. McCabe, 2525 Highway Drive, observed his 40th anniversary with the Wisconsin Telephone Company in the city of Appleton on July 6.

In a letter of appreciation, the company president, N. C. McCabe, said that Mr. McCabe was a diamond in the rough.

Mr. McCabe, a native of St. Paul, began his telephone career as an installer in Milwaukee. He was transferred to Appleton as a central office inspector in 1915 and was promoted to service foreman in 1917.

McCabe is a member of the Fox Valley Council of the Telephone Pioneers of America, an organization of men and women who have been engaged in telephone work for 21 years or more.

'Seagrams 7' Resident Denies Drunk Driving

Jerome Smith, 26, 1015 N. Oneida St., denied a charge of drunk driving Friday and was placed in Outagamie County jail in lieu of $225 bond.

County Judge Gustavo J. Keller set trial date for Oct. 4.

Appleton police arrested Smith Friday in a field in back of a building at 2197 N. Richmond St. Police found Smith in the driver's seat of a car. They said the car lights were on and the motor was running. Police said Smith admitted driving the car into the field.

Police said that Smith, upon arrest, gave his address as "Seagrams 7" and handed a policeman a dollar bill when asked for his driver's license.

million, the hospital is under the supervision of the State Department of Public Welfare and takes patients from the eastern half of the state.

With 12 out of every 100 persons in this country mentally disturbed, according to figures given by Dr. Denzel, the mentally ill occupy about 50 per cent of the 780,000 hospital beds.

Family Relations

Dr. Denzel said, "Here at Winnebago State Hospital we do get our patients easily and it is difficult to get them back to the community after treatment. Family relations are severed, the community does not want the responsibility. The job will not be finished for these patients until the community has the attitude that they are the same as any patients who have been treated in a general hospital for medical and surgical ills."

"We would like to have more patients working in their communities after discharge. Some progress is being made in this direction. Ten patients are now working near here and living at the hospital. We are in serious need of a bus for transporting these patients. Six patients go to the sheltered workshop at Neenah-Menasha, which provides a transition period for them to become responsible and active members of society."

Half-Way House

Les Wildes, employed by the welfare department, is in charge of this area at Winnebago. There is a need for a half-way house for discharged patients to speed their full time vocational rehabilitation. Dr. Denzel said:

About 30 patients are being tested in an out-patient department in operation since May.

"Self responsibility is the core of psychiatric care and while the cost has gone up each year, we feel that we are doing a better job," the doctor said. "Our main goal is to reduce the patient's stay and the cost of treatment. If the community and family will accept the patient promptly when our job is finished, we will be able to accomplish both."

Replaced by Teen-Age Stars

Car Races Cancelled For Outagamie Fair

The stock car races scheduled for the Outagamie County Fair in Seymour have been cancelled and are being replaced by a stage program "Record Review of Stars" featuring teen-age recording artists and a jazz and rock and roll band.

The stage program will be presented in front of the grandstand at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The stock car races originally were scheduled for Wednesday evening.

Star Attraction

The star attraction of the stage program will be the Vargu Brothers, who play harmonicas. Others will be Johnny Elmore and Charles Oliver, singers of the Rainbow Band, and a dance troupe. Johnny Sax, popular Green Bay disc jockey, and the Vibrations, a six-piece jazz combo, also are scheduled Wednesday night. They will be promoted as "Date Nite" and there will be free dancing on the stage and in front of the grandstand after the program. The fair opens Wednesday and Thursday.

State Park Visitors Getting Used To Idea of Recreational Taxes

Rangers Say 'Good-Natured Grumbling' Heard From Tourists About New Levy

BY RAY PAGEL

Visitors to Wisconsin's state parks and some state forest recreational areas are being introduced to the special use tax idea this season.

Most of them, apparently, don't have any strong objections. An automobile sticker good for all of the state parks costs $2 for the season. Daily stickers are available for 50 cents.

"Sure, we hear a little grumbling about another tax to pay, but it's usually good-natured," said the ranger at a state park visited recently.

Willing to Pay
"People seem to realize that the tax is for a good purpose, and they are quite willing to pay a small fee for the privilege of using the state parks."

It may be that some are resisting the tax by staying away, but not so you'd notice. Statistics are not yet available, but rangers report that attendance has been up to par in spite of rather unfavorable weather most weekends.

Through the sticker plan, the people who use the parks are partially paying their own way. This includes the thousands of visitors from other states. It is hoped that a minimum of $500,000 in taxes will be raised the first year.

Why Extra Charge
Some have asked why the extra charge is necessary in view of the additional cigarette tax levied last year for recreational resource development. It is anticipated that smokers will contribute something like $50 million to the fund in the next 10 years.

The cigarette levy is primarily for purchase and development of recreational property. Only $125,000 is allocated annually for maintenance and operation of facilities. With 34 state parks and 10 state forests, this will mean less than $3,000 additional a year for each area.

Stickers are required between April 1 and Oct. 31 in state parks and forest areas classified as recreational. They are not required for the small historic-type parks, including Lost Dauphin, Aztalan, Copper Culture, Cushing Memorial, First Capitol, Lizard Mound, Ojibwa, New Glarus Woods and Old Wade House.

For Vehicles
The stickers are issued for a vehicle and not for a person. They cannot be transferred from one vehicle to another.

Campers staying overnight still are required to pay the usual fee in addition to the sticker.

Order by Mail
Stickers are available at most Wisconsin Conservation Dept. offices or can be ordered by mail by addressing the state office at Box 450, Madison. They also are handled at park lodges and, in many cases, at the entrances to the parks.

Wisconsin isn't doing anything new in charging a state park fee. Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota have been doing it for several years. Canadian provinces also make similar charges.

Grace Lutheran to Lay Cornerstone Sunday Morning

Cornerstone laying for the new Grace Lutheran Church will be at 10 a.m. Sunday between worship services. The church will be dedicated the following Sunday, July 15.

Open house will be from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, July 8.

The new $242,000 building is connected to the present church, which will be converted to a Sunday school and parish hall. The old and new churches are joined at the south side of the old church.

The new church has a seating capacity of 500 in the nave and transept and 60 in the choir balcony.

Dedication ceremonies July 15 will include a service at 10 a.m. and a thanksgiving service by laymen of the congregation at 8 p.m.

Errant Skunk Ruins Scent of Fugitives

MOUNTAIN PLEASANT, Mich. (AP)—State Police apprehended one 15-year-old burglary suspect near here but the other one got away—with an assist from a skunk.

Troopers said their German shepherd was leading a posse in pursuit of the fugitives through a wooded area when the skunk wandered on the scene.

Not only did it spoil the scent the dog was following, but it completely discouraged the dog, troopers said.

Service Station Theft
The operator of the Appleton Cooperative Association filling station reported to Appleton police Friday that the station's soft drink machine was entered.

No money was taken but several bottles were missing and several empty bottles were broken. Police were told.

Two Lawrence Students Will Study in India

Carnegie Foundation Scholarship Winners To Live in Delhi

Two Lawrence College students will spend their junior year in India under full expense scholarships given by the Carnegie Foundation.

They are Joanne Banthin, Broadview, Ill., and David Telleen, Cambridge, Ill., who are preparing for their year abroad by studying Hindi at Midwestern universities this summer, also at Carnegie expense.

Live in Delhi

Students will live in Delhi while engaging in a four part program: (1) Twenty hours a week of sub-professional volunteer social service work in Delhi under the supervision of the Delhi School of Social Work, (2) Ten hours a week of intensive instruction in the Hindi language, (3) A weekly three hour seminar in sociology to interpret in academic terms the social changes which are visible in the groups of Delhi residents with whom the students are doing their volunteer work, and (4) An elective course at one of the colleges of Delhi University.

At the end of the academic year in India, students will travel for two months visiting cultural centers and development projects in other sections of India before returning home.

Professor Minoo Adenwalla, head of the Asian Studies program at Lawrence, has headed the local selection committee.

Minding Your Business

Study Real Estate Appraisal and Work During a Depression

DEAR CY: I have a pretty good little real estate business and enjoy the work. The thing I fear most is the real estate business will slump. Then along with being old, I won't be able to keep going. I would like to get to a point where I could feel protected against a slump and quit worrying so much. Any thoughts on this?

DEAR ALDRIDGE: Your best hedge against a slump is knowing real estate appraisal. Even in a depression, appraisers were working. And Wausau, was named one of four appraisal work isn't nearly so nerve-racking as selling real estate. Start by building a card file on the properties in your area, recording the selling prices. Get information on how to become an appraiser from the Society of Residential Appraisers, 734 South Dearborn Street, Chicago.

DEAR CY: My nephew is always getting himself into a fix. He bought a house trailer on time. That was O.K. as his payments were only $70 per month. But, when he got to the last payment they hit him for about $500. He had to get his loan renegotiated, and extended. This seems like a very shady practice, and I would like to know your opinion.

UNCLE PHIL

DEAR UNCLE PHIL: Your nephew got what is known as a "balloon loan." Everything was nice and easy until the end, and then... wham! Unscrupulous creditors often use the balloon loan to keep a man in debt, and interest flowing. Your nephew should understand the contract, and figure just what the balance will be at the end, the next time he buys on the installment plan.

DEAR CY:

Although I am not sales manager for the baking company firm for which I work, I will be in charge of the sales meetings. Do you know of a good set of capsule instructions for handling a meeting of salesmen? I am younger than the men I will address and, frankly, I'm uneasy. If I could do a good job in carrying out these meetings, it would be quite a feather in my cap.

DEAR JUNIOR:

This would work as well for the baking business as an impatient crowd at the annual PTA dinner. Write Bell and Gossett Company, Morton Grove, Illinois. Ask for a copy of their booklet, "A Guide for Successful Sales Meetings." It was produced to aid their own heating and cooling equipment salesmen. Excerpt: "To justify the time allotted to you by your audience, you owe them certain considerations: 1. To be well prepared, 2. To have an orderly plan of procedure, 3. To put on an interesting meeting, 4. To use the allotted time so it will benefit your audience most, 5. To be prompt in starting and finishing."

Warning Signs

Although principal crossings locations have automatic signals, gates or a watchman on duty, many crossings are protected only by the "silent" round-shaped black-and-yellow warning signs just before the tracks and the black-and-white cross-bar signs a few hundred feet in advance of the tracks.

Slow down at the sight of any sign warning that a railroad crossing is near, advises the motor vehicle department. Expect a train from any direction at any time at any highway-rail crossing!

Words often misused: Do not say "Give us proof of the veracity of these statements." Say "The truth of these statements." "Veracity" is used only with reference to persons.

Often mispronounced: Lowering two meanings of this word. When used to mean placing on a lower level, the "o" is pronounced as in "boat." When used to mean lowering the rank, the "o" is pronounced as in "now."

Often misspelled: Precedence properly is a noun. It has been incorrectly written as "precedence" in many subsequent editions of a State Historical Society's similar publication.

Synonyms: Advance, argue, explain, etc. (as in a recent state meeting in Green Bay, Winneconne village office has offered space in the village hall to museum exhibit and storage space for the Society's collection.)

Word study: Use a word three times and at least once in a sentence.

Today's word: Invention. It is a noun, meaning a new thing or a new way of doing something.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR & LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A stands for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Since letters are not tropisms, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Days of High-Grade Movie Casts No More

Top Actor's High Prices Make Poorer Bit Players Necessary

BY JINGO In the long, long ago when all of those late, late shows were made originally, there was a system by which a studio could use an army of big name actors in any film. That's the reason, perhaps, even the bit parts in the late, late shows are handed with top finesse.

Today the system is no more. Actors have incorporated themselves and sell their services for the highest price. Budgets very quickly soar out of sight and the bit parts — and not so bit parts — get sloughed off to less talented actors.

In a way we are to blame. When we stopped throwing to the cinema palaces the overhead of a stable of stars became a fiduciary liability and the stables were broken up. The action created a monster. When the studios wanted their liberated stars they had to pay for them.

Stanley Kramer, after searing the pants off a good part of the world in his last two films, decided he wanted to do something

Composer Handles Both Music, Business

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Composer handles both music and business for a new musical production. The production is a musical about the life of a composer. The composer is a man who has written many famous songs. The musical is a story of his life and his music. The composer is a man who has written many famous songs. The musical is a story of his life and his music.

Perry Mason Cuts Through Tangled Plot

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — Poor Perry Mason never gets the simple cases. On tonight's repeat "The Case of the Shattered Dream" (which dates from the '59-60 season) there are such assorted crimes as diamond theft, murder, embezzlement, attempted murder, assault, etc. It's quite a headache, but Mason valiantly manages to untangle it all with his usual aplomb.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Tales of Wells Fargo's repeat is an old story, but it's trucked out with a good suspenseful scene at the belltower to take pot shots at his victim elect. John Larch is the heavy, Dean Jones the target. Lawrence Welk show will have a new program. Tonight's, which celebrates the seventh birthday of the advent of the one-two-three man, was taped in June, but not shown until tonight. It's typical Welk variety, with his usual crew — The Lennon Sisters, Norma Zimmer, Larry Hooper, Kenny Tumble, etc. — around for song and show. And so it's off for an eighth year for Welk & Co.

8-10 (Channel 4-5) — This week's repeat feature on Saturday Night at the Movies is a 1951 film, "The Froemen." Richard Widmark, Dana Andrews and Gary Merrill are the stars.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — Tonight's repeat on Have Gun, Will Travel adapts an old legend to a Western setting. Paladin (Richard Boone) stars with Peter Falk in something that approximates the Faust story — the Devil contend ing for the soul of a mortal. The arena for this struggle is the pok er table.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 11) — Leave It to Beaver, virtually the last hold out, starts repeating this week. It's a funny show, with the high spot a scene involving Beaver (Jerry Mathers) and his friend Gilbert (Stephen Talbot). They are sitting in the Cleaver car, pretending they are mother and father out for a drive, and they have good fun imitating their el ders.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — The Defenders' repeat, as usual, is the cream of the Saturday night crop — intelligent in theme, well writ ten, acted with taste. You'll see Robert Loggia attempt to alibi his murdering friend, Robert Du vall with a trumped-up story. When the DA shakes that, Loggia says it was E. G. Marshall who told him to lie. And so Marshall is accused of subornation (inducing another to commit perjury).

8-9 (Channel 11) — About once a month, during the summer, The

How many caught Jingo in error in the last column? He, the dog, landed MGM with "Some things Got to Give" when it should have been Fox.

Word from Fox is that they are going to try again after dumping Monroe, Joanne Woodward and Paul Newman are penciled in for the MM-Dean Martin roles. The idea boys figure they should make the most out of all that publicity from the fiasco. If they write off the cost of the ill-fated attempt to the publicity account, there won't be anything left for small ads for the new attempt.

"The Unfouchables," who got into trouble with the American-Italians, are being prepared for showings in Italy. The bad boys will have a Spanish accent. Wouldn't Big Al get a kick out of all this?

How about that smile Post-Crescent news carrier, Peter Nagan, flashes his customers along route 25 in Kaukauna? It's an example of the cheery nature the young business man brings to his work and undoubtedly had much to do with his ability to increase his customer list by seven subscribers in the past few months.

Pete, 815 Desnoyer St., Kaukauna, delivers evening and Sunday morning papers along Seymour, Oviatt, Blackwell and Division streets on a route which he inherited from his brother, Mike, a year ago. There are two more brothers and two sisters in the family.

Young Nagan is counting on a college education and saving a large portion of his earnings for this purpose. He has plenty of time, for he will be entering the eighth grade at Holy Cross School Kaukauna, in the fall.

Intramural basketball, volleyball, reading and woodworking are his school time activities, while his Boy Scout duties, swimming and model car construction take up any possible slack in 13-year-old Pete's average day.
